e) Internal Continuous Evaluation System in Place:- Yes Available

- The syllabus is distributed over a number of semesters. Grasp and knowledge of the subject is evaluated in bits continuously and periodically thereby putting lesser burden on the student as compared to evaluation by one examination at the end of the session.
- The courses allotted for a particular semester are completed by the end of the semester and also examined and evaluated simultaneously, thereby reducing the amount of material to be studied at one time.
- The mode of evaluation is also varied, depending upon the nature of the subjects and topics. In general, the following components of evaluation are adopted:

Theory Course	Practical Course
Class Tests	Records
Assignments	Experiments
Seminars & Group Discussions	Viva-voce
Attendance	Attendance
End-semester Examination	End-semester Examination

- The student's performance is assessed throughout the semester by continuous evaluation followed by an end-semester examination which covers the entire syllabus.

- The number of credits allotted to each course depends on the relative time a student is expected to devote for the respective course.

- Each component of evaluation is assigned a certain weight age towards the computation of over-all performance in each course.

- Mark grade sheet is issued by University after evaluation of each semester and the declaration of the result of each academic session is based on student's performance over both the semesters of the session. An academic session means both the semesters of the session taken together.

- The student's performance for a session is indicated through a result card issued to the student after each even end-semester examination of a session which shows his achievements in each of the courses registered for.

f) Student's assessment of Faculty System in place :- Yes Available

- Feedback about Faculty is taken from students twice a semester. The various parameters on which teaching is assessed are: Communication Skills, Quality
